

Take the Pulse of Your Employees

How engaged are your staff with your workplace culture? According to Gallup's 2017 State of the American Workplace Report, only 33% of employees are engaged in the workplace, with 51% unengaged, and 16% actively disengaged. Employee engagement is the "gateway to increased retention, job satisfaction, and higher productivity," as defined by the Society of Human Resource Management.

HR Knowledge's employee engagement survey program will first help you measure your employees' levels of satisfaction and engagement. Then our consulting team will work with your senior management to roll out plans, policies, and initiatives based on the responses to increase engagement opportunities. HR Knowledge can help you maintain a strong, motivated workforce that is willing to expend extra effort and drive business goals.

Communication Plan

Our HR Services team will work with you to establish a communication protocol, minimize communication gaps, build alignment with all levels of leadership, and ensure that employees receive consistent messages.

Your Mission, Vision, and Purpose

We'll help you define your mission, vision, and purpose and then clearly communicate this information to your employees. When employees feel valued, invested and involved in the company's mission and success, they will be engaged in their everyday work.

Tailored to Your Business

We'll help you create an engagement survey tailored to your business to learn which aspects of your culture are working and which need to be improved.

Incorporate Employee Feedback

Understanding your employees' engagement is an important indicator of the health and success of your business. By implementing changes, even small, based on their feedback, it will lead to higher productivity.

Recruiting Tool

Looking to hire more talent? Acting on employee feedback to improve your company culture can help you stay competitive in your industry and attract more applicants.
